Coast Guard Planes Hunt In Tropics

Flight Searching
For Man Feared
Down At Sea

HONOLULU (AP) — A report from an amateur radio operator in Texas sent Coast Guard planes searching for a missing plane Friday for Peter Gluckmann, unaccounted for on an attempted non-stop flight from Tokyo to New York.

The amateur said a voice she heard from an island 150 miles from Honolulu might have been that of the flying San Francisco watchmaker.

The Coast Guard ordered its planes aloft immediately. They swept all shorelines with a radius of 150 miles.

CHECK

One plane was sent to check on a green flare sighted on the water 135 miles northeast of Honolulu by a Navy patrol plane at 1:48 a.m.

No check had been made immediately because distress flares are red, not green. A hunt was ordered because of the similarity of distances in the flare sighting and the radio report.

The Coast Guard also sent a carrier pigeon to the little privately owned island of Nihoa asking residents to search the beaches. There is little contact between Nihoa and other Hawaiian islands.

The ham radio report was received after the Coast Guard said the 34-year-old bachelor was "believed down at sea."

The Federal Aviation Agency here said Mrs. J. E. Sitterlin of Bagdad, Tex., picked up "a weak radio signal of 16 meters from Gluckmann saying he was down on a beach 150 miles from Honolulu." In Bagdad, Mrs. Sitterlin said the fading broadcast did not identify the plane as Gluckmann's and she had no way of knowing whether it was he.

The agency said the frequency is higher than any that was known to be available to Gluckmann, who has been flying single-engine planes across oceans for seven years.

The last confirmed radio report from Gluckmann was at 9 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Wednesday, seven hours after he left Tokyo in an attempt to set a new distance record for single-engine planes.

Gluckmann's sponsors in Seattle estimated his gasoline supply would last until 10 p.m. EST Friday night.

Plane Crashes Into Foggy Lake Michigan

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — A crippled Royal Canadian Air Force B-25 bomber with six persons aboard, one thought to be an air vice marshal, crashed into fog-shrouded Lake Michigan off Milwaukee harbor Friday night.

The plane was making a second pass in an attempt to make an emergency landing at Milwaukee's Mitchell Field when it hit the water. It was seen to fall by 30 fishermen dipping snelt near the naval airship here.

The aircraft, a propeller running wild, had made one pass over Mitchell Field, but was unable to land.

OFFICER

Mid. Paul Pobrony, maintenance officer of the Wisconsin Air National Guard who was standing by with a crash truck on the airship, saw the plane pull up from its first pass.

"I had plenty of power, but I had the feeling it was going to be in trouble because I had a similar experience with a B-25 several years ago," Pobrony said. "I saw it go out over the lake, and then I heard a boom."

Joseph Gosh, one of the fishermen who saw the plane go down, said, "I saw it go over the water. It had running lights and it was going from southwest to northeast. It didn't sound so loud—like it was a sub plane or something, but they tell me it was a two-engine plane."

"The motor was running and then it went down. There was an explosion when it hit the water, but there was no flash or fire. It stayed to be a mile out. I heard so loud for help," Gosh said.

Court Rejects Chessman Bid

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The California Supreme Court Friday rejected Cyril Chessman's appeal to escape death in the gas chamber on Monday but his attorney said the legal battle would continue as long as Chessman is alive.

Chessman heard the news by the details of their programs. "It has been my custom in the past to support his normal self ... not too discouraged," Delony added, "I've never gone."

LEAVES NEW ORLEANS

French Head Bids Goodbye To America

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Charles de Gaulle, elbow-deep in Louisiana's version of French culture and cuisine, said goodbye to the United States Friday night and left by plane for three stops in the Caribbean.

The 69-year-old French President's plane took off at 7:31 p.m. for French Guiana, Martinique and Guadeloupe, before returning to Paris next week.

It was a busy day for De Gaulle, who showed little sign of the fatigue that must be gripping him. He spoke at a banquet shortly after noon. In the morning he laid a floral wreath at the statue of Jean Baptiste le Moyne, sieur de Bienville, who founded New Orleans, took a short boat trip along the city's waterfront and attended two receptions.

CLOSER

At the banquet, he said he did not want to elaborate on his talks earlier this week with President Eisenhower, but hailed U.S. and French alliances as "closer than ever."

He said the two nations could help lead the world "on the road of good sense and peace," but emphasized the free people of the world "must be firm, wise and united."

5 HURT IN SOUTH

Damage Slight In Area Weather

Severe weather warnings that had north Louisiana residents looking apprehensively in all four directions were called off as the storms moved south last night. Only wind damage reported in the area was one tree blown across a Winfield street.

A spot check of regional cities showed a general clearing trend by 10 p.m.

South Louisiana was less fortunate. Five persons were reported injured and one home demolished in a heavy windstorm near Lake Charles.

Eight other buildings were damaged in the big blow, believed to be a tornado, which ripped through Hathaway last night.

Superstructure bids at the power plant will be opened on May 13 at 4 p.m. at the offices of the City of Monroe Utilities Commission 211 Twelfth St.

Superstructure changes include plumbing, heating, ventilation, air conditioning and other improvements.

Capt. Louis Mockabee, in charge of the local Salvation Army, has been awarded a new and well deserved honor. He has been selected by high up officials to represent this state at a special series of meetings in Battle Creek, Mich.

Jurors, Assessors To Get Assistance

Rep. Vail Delony, a veteran legislator of Lake Providence will support legislation next month to help parish assessors and the Louisiana Police Jury Association.

Delony said Louisiana assessors and the Police Jury Association would have a legislative program prepared by the time the Legislature goes in session May 1.

"But right now, I couldn't give you the details of their programs," Delony explained. "It has been my custom in the past to support his normal self ... not too discouraged," Delony added, "I've never gone."

Ike Coins Battlecry For GOP

Slogan Tossed
Out In Reference To Veto Block

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Friday gave congressional Republicans a new battlecry—"one third and one"—in his drive to block by veto what he considers unwise Democratic spending bills.

The slogan, tossed out by the President following a breakfast meeting with 16 Republican senators, referred to the fact that it takes only one third of the House or Senate, plus one vote, to uphold presidential vetoes.

One senator said Eisenhower did not mention the new watchword at the breakfast itself. He said it appeared the Chief Executive coined the phrase on the spur of the moment while posing with the lawmakers for pictures later.

TURNED

The President turned to Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and said: "Remember — one third and one — that is the watchword — that's what I need."

Another participant said Eisenhower told his breakfast guests that unwise Democratic spending measures must be blocked, even though it may be painful politically in an election year, to protect the nation's fiscal integrity and the value of the dollar.

This senator further quoted the President as saying this was why Eisenhower said Vice President Richard M. Nixon might have to sit in for him at next month's summit conference while he returns home to exercise his veto.

Congressional Democrats already have accepted the President's challenge. The House Thursday passed a housing bill, but by less than the two-thirds margin needed to override a veto. The vote was 214-163.

New Medical Care Program Is Under Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration is considering a new medical care plan for persons 65 and older under which many would receive tax relief instead of a direct federal subsidy, it was learned Friday.

The plan also would feature a direct federal payment to those over 65 who don't have enough income to pay taxes but who bought medical insurance policies. The subsidy would cover about half of their out-of-pocket costs.

The new plan would be offered as a substitute for a Democratic plan to provide hospitalization insurance under the Social Security program. The Democratic plan would entail higher payroll taxes on millions of workers and their employers.

REPORTED

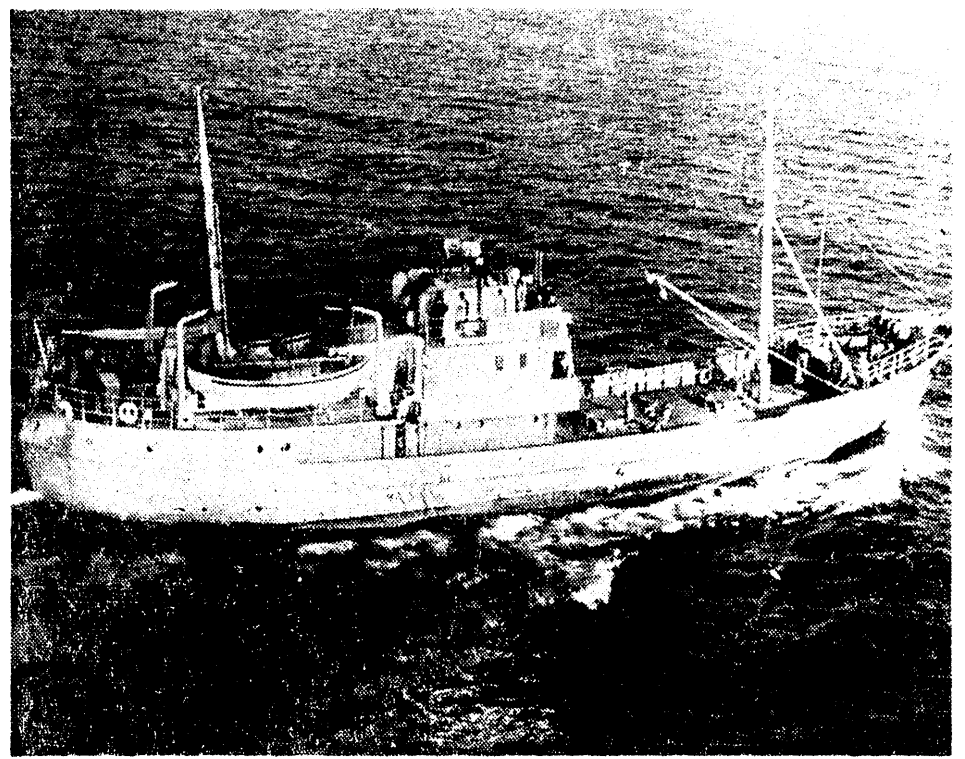

The new plan was reported to have been advocated by several key congressional Republicans as an alternative to still another plan devised by Welfare Secretary Arthur S. Flemming.

Flemming's plan would provide for federal-state subsidies to enable persons 65 and older, with low incomes, to buy medical insurance policies at below-cost rates. The rates would vary depending on income.

Flemming's aides emphasized that the new proposal did not mean Flemming's plan had been shelved. They said a number of plans, including these two and variations of them, still were under study.

Reds May Take Issue To Nixon

LONDON (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may object to Vice President Richard M. Nixon sitting in at the Big Four summit conference if President Eisenhower is forced to leave Paris at the end of a week because of "domestic requirements," Soviet experts said Friday.

THE NAVY in releasing this picture in Washington, identified the ship shown as the Soviet trawler Vega operating about 60 miles off Long Island, earlier this week. The Navy said the ship was within a mile of where the new U.S.

Navy Polaris submarine George Washington was testing its missile launching equipment. The picture was made from a Navy airship. (U.S. Navy Photo via AP Wirephoto)

Disarmament Talks Cease Until June

GENEVA (UPI) — The deadlock in nation disarmament conference Friday recessed until June 7 with East and West failing even to agree on the wording of a communique on their seven days of talks.

But both sides hinted at the possibility of real negotiations after the summit meeting in Paris beginning May 16.

The delegates of the five Western and five Communist nations met for three hours, most of which was devoted to wrangling over an interim communique. With East and West unable to resolve differences over the wording, the issue was dropped.

APART

It was the 32nd meeting since the conference opened on March 15 with both sides still as far apart as ever.

At Friday's session America's Frederick M. Eaton and Russia's Valerian A. Zorin expressed hope that the Big Four heads of government could find a way to break the disarmament deadlock in their Paris talks.

Eaton, however, admitted he could find nothing in the Soviet statements during the seven weeks of negotiations to justify that hope.

Zorin's only delegation leader to hold regular press conferences told reporters he thought there had been a "certain rapprochement" between East and West on some points.

Three Killed In Plane Crash

TOPEKA, Kan. (UPI) — Three crew members were killed Friday when a reconnaissance B-47 plane from Forbes Air Force Base crashed and burned in a meadow behind the base.

The commander of the plane was identified as Capt. Paul Jones, 34, Madison, Wis. The pilot was 1st Lt. Carl Stauffer, 24, Pleasantville, Iowa, and the navigator was 1st Lt. Granville Harkrader, 28, Pampa, Tex.

Polaris Scores Successful Run

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Navy fired its Polaris submarine missile on a successful 1,000-mile flight Friday night.

An announcement said the missile achieved all test objectives and impacted a dummy nose cone in the vicinity of Puerto Rico. It was the second successful Polaris launch over a 1,000-mile course in four days.

The launching appeared normal as the 28-foot, solid-fuel rocket rose swiftly from its pad and darted into the sky. The second stage separated from the booster a minute after launch and ignited high in the sky.

OF U. S. POLARIS

Soviet Trawler Seen Near Test

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Russian trawler was photographed within a mile of tests being conducted by a Polaris missile submarine Tuesday and could have obtained valuable U.S. defense secrets, the Navy disclosed Friday.

It also said Soviet ships have been observed near other American missile tests.

A Navy spokesman emphasized that the Soviet vessel in Tuesday's incident was within its rights since it was in international waters about 60 miles south of Long Island, N.Y. The American vessel under test was the Polaris submarine George Washington.

The body of a man identified as William D. Holaway, 41, was discovered yesterday behind a big oak tree off Nantux Lane about 20 yards from an abandoned auto.

Sheriff Bailey Grant said the man "died from apparently self-inflicted wounds in the head."

Grant said Holaway was "clutching a brand new single shot rifle, price tags still affixed."

Drivers license in the auto gave the man's address as Ft. Meyers, Fla., Grant said. He added that the vehicle was registered to Holaway's estranged wife, Mrs. Ruby Holaway, 417 Jackson St., Monroe, Grant said the man borrowed the car at about 3:20 yesterday morning.

Efforts to contact Mrs. Holaway failed, Grant reported. He said the man had been dead several hours when found by sheriff's officers, who had received a call to check the abandoned car at 6:30 p.m.

The body was shielded from the surface.

The airship that observed the trawler was being used to spot the dummy Polaris missiles, known as "Dolphins."

The Soviet trawler was moving at a good clip when the photograph was taken. The vessel was estimated to be about 225 feet long, with a beam of possibly 26 feet and displacement of about 330 tons.

The American tug "Nippure" and the submarine rescue ship "Sunbird" were also participating in the test exercises with the nuclear submarine.

PSYCHOLOGIST SUGGESTS

Unchain Your Mind For Creative Hike

NEW YORK (AP) — How can these great people by waiting for you boost your creative powers? First, unchain your mind — let it put together old ideas in brand new combinations — and have the sense to discard the useless, a New York City psychologist suggested Friday.

Nor is it likely you can choose the same methods or motivations of other great men, Dr. Livingston Welch of Hunter College told a meeting of the New York Academy of Sciences.

He cited a famous mathematician who came up with a clue to an intricate equation while waiting for a bus — and a Russian novelist, Dostoevski, who wrote to make money to stay out of debtor's prison.

"Robert Burns' poetry owes much to the native wit of Scotland — whiskey," Dr. Welch said. "What are we to conclude from these facts? Can we emulate said."

Deep Snows Pile Up In Part Of U.S.

By United Press International
A multi-million dollar storm system ruined most of Colorado's rich fruit crop Friday and sent a new tornado whipping across the Southwest where twisters had claimed six lives.

The Western weather onslaught piled up snow 23 inches deep on Wolf Creek Pass near Alamosa, Colo. Snow fell from northern Montana, the Colorado Rockies and northern New Mexico into western Nebraska and South Dakota.

LOSSES

The snow and cold froze the blooming apple, peach, cherry and apricot trees in western Colorado and agricultural officials estimated at least 75 per cent of the crop was lost. The cost was estimated at between 6 and 8 million dollars and perhaps more.

Sub-freezing temperatures Friday night were expected to push the loss higher. Through the snow belt, depths were 14 inches at Colorado's Monarch Pass, 7 inches at both Denver and Lander, Wyo., 6 at Cheyenne, Wyo., and between 3 and 4 at Santa Fe, N.M.

Dust clouds swirled over south-east New Mexico and the Texas communities of Lockhart and Giddens 200 more than a half foot of rain in a matter of four hours. Dallas, Tex., weathered a 17-degree temperature drop, rain, sleet, snow and thunder — all within one hour.

Friday's storm was almost a carbon copy of the snows which caused 10 million dollars damage Sept. 29. Trees and shrubs were still leaved out when that storm hit, and Friday young plants, (Continued On Page Two-A)

Down Payment Cut On Some Houses Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lower down payments on FHA-insured houses selling for $15,000 or more were made effective Friday.

In announcing this, Housing Commissioner Julian H. Zimmerman also held out the possibility that FHA soon may be able to reduce the insurance premium paid by all home buyers who have FHA mortgages. However, Congress would have to authorize such action.

Lower down payments were authorized by Congress last September, but Zimmerman said the administration had delayed putting them into effect because of tight money conditions.

ACTION

Here's what the action will mean to home buyers: On a $15,000 house, the new minimum down payment is $600 compared with the old requirement of $650. At $16,000 it is $700 instead of $800, at $17,000 it is $800 instead of $1,100 and at $18,000 it is $900 instead of $1,400.

At all levels above $13,000 down payments now are $300 less than in the past.

The reductions mean, of course, a corresponding increase in the monthly mortgage payments to be made by home buyers.

Zimmerman told a news conference that when mortgage money is tight, an easing of mortgage terms has little impact on home building. However, he said a recent easing of credit coupled with today's lowering of down payments should stimulate construction activity.

He forecast a further significant easing of credit within the next six weeks and said his belief was based on an expectation of economic stability.

The general work of the Army has expanded greatly under the efforts of the Captain, which are doubtless responsible for the recent boom that has been recorded.

Student Cars

The Purdue University in Indiana discloses that 32 per cent of today's sophomores, junior and senior boys in the institution are owners of automobiles.

As auto no longer is a means of transportation, it has increased the standing and popularity of the owners. Right here in the Twin Cities, at Northeast State college with 2,000 registered students, there are upwards of 1,400 automobiles and they are cared for by special parking zones. But these will not suffice for long as more and more become car owners.

Miss Sharon Goodwin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Goodwin, of Mafford Drive, in school in West Monroe, has been selected to attend the LSU Marine Laboratory, Ocean Springs, Miss., from July 15 to 26. Only forty juniors and seniors have been accepted this year.

Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Worthen were made happy April 23 when their second child arrived. She is like her older sister, someone to keep her company. Local relatives also are pleased.

Delegates From Northeast At Annual Play Day

Representatives of Northeast State, Women's Recreation Association met yesterday for Camp Kivania, near Alexandria, to take part in the annual play day sponsored by the Louisiana Federation College WRA. Also making the trip were Miss Ada Bess, sponsor of the local organization, and Miss Gloria Hines, both of the Health and Physical Education faculty.

Students from the ten participating colleges will spend three days in various activities culled for enjoyment of good groups. The current program is based on the Indian theme, which calls for tribal names being given to the groups. These divisions will be used throughout the events to emphasize play among women from various colleges rather than competition between schools.

Activities will include softball, volleyball, basketball, table tennis, swimming and tennis, folk and square dancing. Special features will be stunts and skits. Awards will be given to the winning team in each tournament and to the most outstanding student from each WRA.

Participating schools in this year's play day include: Northeast, Northwestern State, Southwestern State, Louisiana State University, Nicholls State College, McNeese State, Louisiana College, Southwestern, Sacred Heart College, Louisiana Tech and Centenary College.

Students representing Northeast State are: Stella Bass, Ann Marie, Mary, "Pinkie" McGough, Dorothy Marsh, Eleanor, Mrs. Susie Kelly, Maxine Sike, Linda Thompson, Katherine Tucker and Mary Welch.

UNDERGOES QUESTIONING

Dick Clark Says Never Took Payola

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Dick Clark, who had been hounded about for months in the murky-burly news of his hands were never dirtied by payola, continued well publicized reports that he and his wife Barbara had accepted a five star, a ring, and a necklace from a record manufacturer. He said that under the circumstances it was about the time of his birthday in 1958—he reluctantly accepted the jewelry valued at $3,000 from Lou Bedell, who makes Era and Dore records. He said he pressed on Bedell a check for $300 when Bedell gave him the jewelry. Clark said he never gave payola to any one, but he admitted he had accepted payola from a record manufacturer.

De Gaulle, Long Share Spotlight In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — President of France or not, Charles de Gaulle had a tough time keeping the spotlight off Louisiana Gov. Earl K. Long Friday.

The stately, imperious French leader had a brush with Long Friday and it's difficult to say who came out in front. Long sat at the head table with De Gaulle at a $15 per plate banquet. Long also made a short speech, probably one of his briefest.

But before he got his chance at the podium, he had the crowd of 1,000 cheering. He held court with a group of newsmen before he was seated and then had a tough time staying put.

Long had got the best of him during the preliminary, he moved De Gaulle's interpreter out of his seat and kept on a line of patter with New Orleans Mayor DeLoach. De Gaulle's interpreter, seated at De Gaulle's right.

The chair he prebened from the interpreter was directly behind De Gaulle. De Gaulle didn't talk to Long and rarely turned his head around to take notice of the governor.

It wasn't long before Arthur de la Houssaye, a member of the official banquet committee, took the governor by the arm and escorted him back to his chair. Long got his chance to speak and hailed De Gaulle as "one of the greatest men the world has ever produced." He said it was "a pity he didn't get a chance 20 years ago to do the things he has in the last two years."

After his talk of less than one minute, Long spun on his heel, grabbed De Gaulle's hand, put on a battered Panama hat and left the banquet room waving to the crowd.

Lana Turner's Daughter Flees

SYLMAR, Calif. (AP) — Cheryl Crane, daughter of actress Lana Turner, fled Friday night from the county's El Retiro Home for Girls, police said.

The home is a minimum security facility surrounded by a tall chain link fence. Cheryl and two other teen-age girls from the home apparently climbed over—or shined under—the fence.

Cheryl, 16, fatally stabbed John Stompanato at her mother's Beverly Hills home in 1955. She was made a ward of the court and assigned to the physical custody of her maternal grandmother. Earlier this year she was ordered into the home after Miss Turner petitioned for the transfer. The actress said Cheryl would get better supervisory care at the home.

Social Security Switch

One of the wisest moves ever made by the social security administration is about to be effected. It will enable those reaching 65 or 62, who are eligible to begin drawing social security checks immediately, instead of having to wait two or three months for their first checks.

During the nearly 25 years social security has been in effect, the social security administration has also allowed people from filing applications more than a month before they could start drawing the payments. If applications were filed earlier they were held back and not paid until before payments were due. This processing was long and a most frustrating delay. The checks would not start on time.

Now, the switch to the new system takes six to eight weeks after an application is submitted. It is a switch through the social security bill and get the checks started. This means that the application must have money saved up, or a loan must be obtained. The switch is a switch from the old system to the new system.

Now, the switch is a switch from the old system to the new system. The switch is a switch from the old system to the new system. The switch is a switch from the old system to the new system.

The changeover is designed to help the elderly people who have been collecting retirement payments for years.

There are many reasons for making the switch. One is that the application, especially those who do not plan to retire immediately, will have the opportunity to find out in advance whether their social security payments have been recorded properly. Of course, it is possible to do that now by checking with the social security administration, but most people are far more likely to find out ahead of time if they file their applications well ahead of the time they plan to retire. This also gives more time for proof of age and other requirements that may hold up payments for as much as six months in a year.

Those planning to retire at 65 or 62, if a woman can benefit in at least one way. Those expecting to continue working past retirement can benefit in several ways.

Immediate start of payments ordinarily is the biggest advantage for those retiring as soon as they are eligible. The three month period, instead of one month, ordinarily gives enough processing time so the checks can be started when they are due.

Following are some of the advantages that may be gained by those who file up to three months before they will be 65 (or 62) and plan to continue working and not draw payments until later.

When you eventually stop working, the time required to process your application will already be out of the way. Then, all you will have to do is to ask to have checks started and you will probably get your first check on time.

You will be assured of getting your payment that is due you.

Suppose that, between the time you stop working and the time you ask for social security payments, you fail to collect some checks due you. Hereafter you could collect only the checks missed during the 12 months before you filed an application, even though a good many more months might have elapsed between the time you stopped working and sought to start collecting. By applying at 65, you can go back to the time you stopped working and collect any checks you have missed, even though you have failed to collect them for three or four years before you asked for payment.

Your payments, when you start collecting them, will always be based on the highest level of earnings you could claim when you were 65 or on the highest level to which you are entitled. Payments will not be lowered by any subsequent drop in salary, as they might have been before if you kept on working after 65, received a salary cut and had to choose between the salary you drew at quitting time or average out your earnings.

Unquestionably, the new setup will be a big advantage for all recipients and it should work well for the administration.

Even though the new system comes almost 25 years late, the social security administration or the officials behind its operation should be commended for adopting a more practical system.

Soft Water Effects

In addition to making provision for an adequate water supply in the future, the demands multiple cities may be required to give greater attention to the hardness or softness of this commodity. A leading magazine submits figures tending to show soft water causes hardening of the arteries and that hard water has the opposite effect. Since it is possible to make water harder or softer, chances of this kind may eventually be carried out along with purification procedures.

After a study of the numerical relationship of deaths from heart and circulatory ailments to consumption of hard and soft water in all states and the district of Columbia, a Dartmouth medical school professor advanced the theory that the death rate is definitely influenced by the hardness of the water supply.

In New Mexico, where water tested ranks third hardest behind South Dakota and Nebraska, in that order, the heart death rate was lowest, with 200.2 per 100,000 persons.

In South Carolina, where water is second only to Oregon in softness, the higher cardiovascular death rate of 511.4 was reported in the three years analyzed.

Higher than average death rates were recorded in 15 of 23 states and the District of Columbia which have softer than average water.

Hardness and softness of water varies not only by states but from town to town, according to the source of supply. Water in West Monroe is generally credited with being softer than that in Monroe, although the water in both towns apparently is comparatively soft, since the amount of soap required is far less than in many places.

To pinpoint the relationship between soft water and hard arteries, Dr. Henry A. Schroeder of Dartmouth listed three questions which he says must be answered before it can be determined how to avoid the bad effects or profit by the good effects. The questions are:

Do minerals which make hard water have a beneficial effect? Is there something harmful about soft water? Is the fact that soft water picks up harmful metals from pipes more readily a factor?

There may be other factors involved in the higher death rates from cardiovascular ailments in the soft water areas but if there is a definite difference because of the water content it would be well to study the causes of this difference.

It might be possible not only to obtain an improvement in the soft water areas but even in the hard water areas, since more of the beneficial elements might be added to both types of water. If sufficient benefit could be shown, this might not arouse much controversy.

Oldsters And Youngsters

Income Tax Increasingly Weakens Family Structure Of Nation Based On Concept Of Mutual Aid

The income tax increasingly weakens the family structure of our nation. The family is based on the concept of mutual aid; parent nurtures the child; brother helps brother; children care for parents in their old age. The income tax leaves too little over from earnings so that the most dependent and hard-working persons find it difficult to maintain a fund for normal family relationships.

Therefore, the oldsters demand government aid and the passage of a morally degenerative act as the Forand Bill which recalls the campaigns of Dr. Townsend to turn the United States into a nationalized state of dependent people. When the government cares for people from the cradle to the grave, the individual loses not only his initiative but his dignity. It would be more prudent to make it possible for those who labor to keep a fairer share of their income, to be thrifty, to save and to provide for their old age. It would surely be more moral for children to care for their parents than to leave such care to question-asking bureaucrats who can become very harassing. However, the current trend toward socialization eliminates the qualities of gentleness, pity, kindness, love. "Stand on line and be counted." There is no freedom in that.

The youngsters have their problems, too. An actuary recently stated the case this way:

"... To illustrate: under the laws dealing with rent control, a necessity in wartime, but something our lawmakers neglected to abolish when the need for it no longer existed, an executive continues to live in an apartment he has occupied for the last ten years at a frozen rent ceiling of $63 a month; whereas a young newly married couple of more modest means, finds that as new tenants, they must pay $163 for the same apartment in the same building. That is to say, the rent control law allows the landlord to charge his new tenant the law of supply and demand rate, while the old tenant pays the rate that applied twenty years ago."

Further, another and even more disastrous difficulty of young people was cited — uncertainty, postponed marriages, marriages while still at college, interrupted marriages—all lethal attacks on the family system. This actuary says:

"... the future of the young men of our nation is in a state of perpetual suspended animation because of the draft laws which will neither take them into the Army nor free them for an industrial career. Any prospective employer is naturally unwilling to put a young prospective employee through a training period for a career with his company when the future of such a man is so uncertain as to whether he will be drafted and separated from the employer for two years, and probably not return to the company after service. Similarly, young men cannot plan their immediate future—it's too uncertain under these circumstances. The natural law must be released from the shackles of such illogical and unsound bureaucracy, if our national energy and imagination are to be fully exploited in making further progress."

The intention of socialization is to improve the lot of every individual, to reduce the power of the rich to become richer and safeguard the poor from becoming poorer. Actually the effect of socialization, nearly 30 years after the Roosevelt program was established, shows that those who possessed inherited or accumulated wealth have grown richer; the general level has gone upward but taxes and the cost of living have risen and individual debt has increased. What remains, when it is all calculated, is a life of diminishing returns for the family in sound currency and rainy-day savings.

This needs study by actuaries—such a study it has never had, so far as I know. Great attention is being paid to the problems of the oldsters who must not be permitted to suffer but who also cannot become a drag on the community. Too little attention is being paid to the social problems of the youngsters who are the hope of the country. We get excited over their delinquencies but we fail to recognize that society has, in this generation, dealt them bad cards, particularly in loading them down with debt, giving them a bad currency, wasting their most fruitful and creative years and bringing them into the market place at too advanced an age. This problem we ignore at our peril.

DR. STEINCROHN

Afraid Of X-Ray

Father Fears Children May Be Harmed By Dental Treatment

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: I have a teenage son and daughter who need dental treatment. I suppose they will require X-rays of their teeth before the dentist can go to work intelligently. What I am concerned about isn't the "drilling" (I suppose the children will be concerned enough about that).

I worry about the effects of X-rays on their glands. I have been reading about the dangers of X-ray overexposure in physicians' offices. Does this also apply to dentists? — Mr. L., Miami.

ANSWER: An X-ray is an X-ray wherever it is taken. It is true that the exposure element in your dentist's office is much less than in your physician's; nevertheless, your dentist needs to be careful, too.

I have come across a report made by the Hartford (Conn.) Health Department after studying the gonadal (X-ray) radiation exposure to young children from diagnostic dental X-rays. Fifty dental offices were visited during the study. The following are some of the recommendations:

Every attempt should be made to get the right picture the first time. Repeated exposures are usually necessary because of poor technique, poor dark-room facilities, inexpensive film, poor solutions, etc.

A minimum number of film exposures should be taken commensurate with diagnostic needs.

Use of a leaded lap apron for the patient. This should be used regardless of whether just one film exposure is made or a full mouth series.

Utilize the fastest film possible. Use a film holder rather than have the patient hold the film. If the patient holds the film, the hand and wrist are unnecessarily exposed.

Keep rechecking on the efficiency of X-ray equipment.

EXPLANATION OF "JELLY BELLY"

Some time ago a reader wanted to know about a condition called "jelly belly." I confessed my ignorance. I had never heard of it. Now comes a letter from a reader who knows exactly what it is and chides me for being so ignorant.

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: Doctor or not, anyone who does not know what jelly belly is not very well educated. It is a condition of having excessive stored energy in the region of the stomach. In other words, jelly belly is just plain being too fat. — A Reader

COMMENT: That's the end of jelly belly in this column.

LIPOMA

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: What is lipoma? What causes it? Is the operation serious? Mrs. L., Indianapolis.

ANSWER: Lipoma is a fatty tumor. It is benign (nonmalignant). It may be small or large and grow on any part of the body. We don't know what causes it. Many lipomas may occur in the same patient. Operation is not serious.

FUNGUS INFECTION OF HANDS

Writes Mrs. B., Hackensack, N.J.: I have a severe fungus infection of the hands for the past five years. I have had treatments from my doctor and from a skin specialist without help. In fact, I haven't returned in over a year.

Over the radio, recently, I have heard of a new drug in the treatment. Do you suppose my doctors know about it?

ANSWER: Chances are they do. When you return for treatment, probably they will consider prescribing griseofulvin.

Dr. Steincrohn's leaflet "S-4, 'MAYBE YOUR HEART TROUBLE IS IMAGINARY,' will be mailed to you on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for handling charges. Address: Dr. Steincrohn in care of this newspaper.

April Into May
APRIL disappears tonight... And May will greet the dawn... Flowers should spring up again... And showers should be gone... It is that special time each year... Of April into May... When hearts are drawn together in... The secrets they would say... And so I whisper to your heart... The words meant just for you... I love you and I promise I... I will be forever true... Because you are my sunshine and... All flowers in my heart... God willing, darling, you and I... I will never be apart... Embrace me, love, and kiss me sweet... This special night and day... When Cinderella's slipper small... Turns April into May.

Symington Runs

Announcement That He Is Candidate Surprising To No One

Long Wait — The recent formal announcement by Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri that he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination came as a surprise to no one. But it did draw a good — humored gasp from front — running Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts. "I think I can understand Missouri's feeling that it is their time again for a president," Kennedy commented. "After all, they haven't had a president since Truman."

Three Strikes Only — Sen. Sam J. Ervin (D-N.C.) was pitching and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-N.Y.) was catching — barbs, that is, during a debate on constitutional law. Said Ervin: "Since I have pitched to the senator from New York three times, and he has hit three fouls, I am going to pitch to him a fourth time." Piped up Keating: "That is not permitted under baseball rules." Whereupon the presiding officer rapped his gavel and intoned: "The Chair rules that the baseball season has not officially opened."

Well Tested — Rep. H. B. Gross (R-Iowa), in seeking to eliminate by amendment some $4 million to subsidize helicopter service in three U. S. airports, argued that there was no more justification for subsidizing a helicopter service than there was for subsidizing a taxicab company. Rep. Sidney H. Yates (D-Ill.) then went into a lengthy explanation of why the subsidy was needed to test the practicality of helicopter service in its infancy. Quipped Gross: "Has not the President pretty well established that helicopters are practical?"

and Act — The Daughters of the American Revolution, holding their annual convention in Washington, really had a difficult "act" to follow when they arrived in town. The DAR's followed by a day a convention of the Members of the Orders of Distinction of the National Society of the Daughters of the Barons of Rummende.

Careless Slip — Rep. Bruce Alger (R-Tex.) devoted part of a recent newsletter to comments in favor of Vice President Richard M. Nixon. "I believe this will be the year for aroused conservatives," Alger wrote. "Dick Nixon can be their leader." But the congressman inadvertently preceded his prediction earlier in the newsletter with the comment: "demagoguery and political expediency have won elections in the past."

Money Troubles — The federal Bureau of the Budget, which in effect has the final say on what items and how much goes into each year's budget, is the subject of frequent attacks from all sides. Members of congress complain that the bureau has usurped congressional powers. Members of congress frequently label the bureau "niggardly" because it turns thumbs down on pet projects. Agencies often blame the bureau for too — severe cuts in operating budgets. But it was left to Budget Director Maurice Stans to come up with a definition that seemed to fit: "Budgeting is the science of distributing dissatisfaction uniformly."

Road Show — Sen. Thurston B. Morton (R-Ky.), chairman of the Republican National Committee, told a meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington that he did not claim to have met all the newspapermen in the country. But, he said, after his election as chairman last year he was pursued by such great numbers of reporters that "there were days when it seemed I was in a road show version of 'Meet the Press.'"

Long Silence — One of the 100 Senate dictators, but the presiding officer — on the past seven years Vice President Nixon — may speak only when he makes a ruling or breaks a tie vote. One exception is when there are distinguished visitors in the senate chamber. Last week Nixon, who has broken only seven tie votes in seven years, got his chance. He spoke briefly to welcome 24 visitors from the Canadian parliament.

Capital Monster Rising

Handsome Office Building For Washington Officialdom Costing $66,000,000

A handsome steel and concrete monster is rising in the shadow of the United States Capitol.

It is an office building with the stupendous price tag of $66,000,000. The building has been termed a necessity due to "lack of space" presently available to congressmen, their staffs, committees and various activities.

So far no two secretaries have been seen sharing one desk and no committee has been observed holding sessions in pleasant spring sunshine on the Capitol steps.

Each of the 437 members of the House of Representatives now has a dual or multi-roomed office suite, high-ceilinged, carpeted, and cooled by the world's biggest air-conditioning unit. Committees hold hearings daily in no apparent discomfort.

These offices and committee rooms are in the two existing House Office Buildings or in the domed Capitol. Adjacent to the is the network of steel girders now assuming shape as the Third House Office Building. It would be an understatement to say that authorization and cash appropriation needed for the new building had a smooth passage through necessary Congressional committees. They breezed through.

Now House committees that deliberate on how your tax money is to be spent hold their hearings behind closed doors. Public and press are barred. Later, a carefully screened and edited transcript of what was said behind these doors is released to the press. But even this censored product includes frequent references to the phrase: "discussion off the record" — meaning let's keep the whole thing quiet — at convenient places.

One such reference occurred recently during House appropriations hearings that veered dangerously close to the touchy matter of the price of the new a-building Third House Office Building.

The discussion got around to noting prices of various federal edifices, such as the State Department Building, $32 million; the Central Intelligence Agency building, $34 million; History and Technology, $26 million; Smithsonian, $36 million; and the Bureau of Standards, $23 million. Then a committee member naively suggested, "Of course, I think we ought to include the Third House Office Building."

"Off the record," promptly said his committee chairman.

The transcript accordingly goes blank at this point, recording merely, "Discussion off the record."

Well, well. Perhaps with taxpayers licking raw wounds inflicted by recently filed income tax returns, it is just as well that a $66,000,000 office building, whose justification is at least debatable, be left discreetly in the background.

It will, however, be a splendid structure. Its "simplified classic design" is planned to blend with other buildings on Capitol Hill. It will be 720 by 450 feet in dimension.

Twenty-four elevators will carry its occupants to their appointed tasks; its finish will be in white marble and the lighting system both incandescent and fluorescent.

The building will house 160 suites for members of Congress, nine committee hearing rooms, eight of which will be two stories high. There will be a gymnasium and an underground garage for about 1600 automobiles. It will be connected by subway tunnel transportation with other buildings on Capitol Hill.

And, to quote the Capitol Architect:

"Planting areas, paved terraces, benches and other garden features will be provided in the open courts. Fountain and reflecting pools are included in the landscape treatment."

Daily Devotional

A certain woman named Lydia... attended unto the things which were spoken by Paul... — Acts 16:14

When Paul and his companions came to Philippi, they found a group of religious women meeting by the riverside — and the outstanding person of this group was Lydia, a successful merchant. But she was not too busy to listen to Paul, to accept Christ and to be baptized along with her family. Our churches of today would be poor indeed without their consecrated women; and often in the church and in the home, they are the real Christian.

"O God, for thy servants, who have been evangelists in all ages. In Christ name we give thanks. Amen."

Battaglia Platform Is Announced

Joseph A. Battaglia, candidate for Monroe street commissioner, issued a statement yesterday.

Battaglia's statement follows: "If I am elected, and I believe I will be, I promise the people of Monroe that I will make a good street commissioner, one who will be on the job at all times. And, I will put forth my fullest ability and authority to administer the affairs of that office in a fair, efficient and effective manner."

"There are a number of things I can bring to the office that will benefit our people, all of the people — not just a select few who will receive special consideration for some petty personal or political reason."

"As a lifetime resident of Monroe and a former employee of the city police department, I feel that I am familiar with the city's needs and the importance of the street commissioner's office."

"After serving in the police department for several years, I resigned to organize my own plumbing business which I still operate as the only support of my wife, eight children and myself."

"My years with the police department, I feel, were good for me. Though the pay was not exactly extravagant, I enjoyed my years as a policeman. Probably one of my most exciting experiences as a policeman was the capture of a dangerous killer, Loyd Zeigler, a fete which won for me numerous awards and wide recognition."

"I would like to take this opportunity to discuss as briefly as possible, some of the things I hope to achieve as Monroe's street commissioner."

"One thing which I have already publicly announced that I stand for is lower utility rates.

Monroe's utility rates are far above those of private utility companies serving comparable cities. I do not think it is fair to ask our people to pay higher rates for services delivered from their own system. If our utility services cannot be distributed at a charge somewhat in line with other producers then something is wrong."

"I elected I hereby pledge the full support of the street commissioner's office for the reduction of utility rates."

"The garbage tax. That's another thing I am deeply convicted against. The fact that the garbage tax has not been removed, or at least reduced, is an outright insult to the intelligence of our people."

"When the tax was first applied, it was heralded as a 'temporary' tax, to be removed after a short time. Today we still have the garbage tax and I know that the people of Monroe oppose its continuance."

"If I am honored with election to the office I am seeking, I promise here and now that I will lend my every effort toward the revocation of the garbage tax."

"Above all, the street commissioner should bring a fair, equitable and effective street program to all sections of the city. I will do just that. It does not take a smart man to see that our city street program has been inadequate. And, further, it is obvious to people in some areas that a great inequity has existed in what street improvements have been made. Some areas, badly in need of street repair, have been overlooked entirely, especially on the southside and college areas."

"Better pay for all city employees and better working conditions will be another special effort on my part. As a former city employee, I feel that I have first hand knowledge of the inadequacies on this score."

"In some cases, city employees don't receive enough pay to adequately provide bare necessities for their families. This is especially true in the street and garbage departments."

"There should be improvements in the pay scales for firemen and policemen. Some improvements have been made in these departments but there is still a need for more."

"In closing, I would like to again stress that I am not anybody's handpicked candidate in this race. I am independent of any local or state political faction or vested commercial interests."

"If I am elected I will be in position to answer only to the people of Monroe. I have campaigned vigorously since entering the race and I have taken the issues directly to the people, the only force I know that can put me in office."

"Though independent, I promise to work in harmony with the other members of the next city administration, regardless of who they may be."

Armed Rebels Stage March On Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay (UPI) — A group of armed rebels has invaded southern Paraguay from Argentina and seized the small village of Mayor Otano, the government announced officially Friday night.

The announcement made by Interior Minister Edgardo Ynsfran, confirmed daylong rumors of a new invasion of Paraguay by exiles in Argentina.

According to earlier reports from Posadas, Argentina, on the Paraguayan border, 250 exiles swarmed across the Parana River into their homeland in a new effort to overthrow strongman President Gen. Alfredo Stroessner.

Drug Taken Off Market

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Lakeside Laboratories of Milwaukee said Friday that, at the request of the Food and Drug Administration, it was withdrawing from the market its injected iron drug inferon, which is administered chiefly to children and pregnant women for the treatment of anemia.

A company spokesman said the FDA request apparently was based on a research report by Dr. H. G. Richmond, an Aberdeen, Scotland, pathologist. The report, published in the British Medical Journal April 11, 1959, said that inferon had caused muscle cancers or sarcomas when injected repeatedly in large doses at the same spot in laboratory mice and rats.

APPROPRIATIONS BOOST

More Finances
To Back Planes

By FRANK ELEAZER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Appropriations Committee last Dec. 31, reauthorized President Eisenhower's defense budget for 1961. The committee told the House in a report that the Pentagon is so jammed with administrators that it never was able to obtain an accurate count.

But it offset all but $121,007,000 of the increase by cracking down on waste and travel by military officials and ordering them to speed up some of their administrative duties. It approved a $81,000,000 defense spending bill for fiscal 1961.

The action came as the Senate Appropriations Committee unanimously passed a $870,000,000 bill authorizing $30,000,000 more than the president sought for civilian space activities in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Chairman Landon B. Johnson (Tex.) said the extra funds would give the federal space agency an "additional cushion" to meet "unanticipated developments." He looked for technological breakthroughs in space research and developments as well as some setbacks.

The military money bill authorized by the House committee would provide extra funds for more Polaris submarines and their missiles, a speed-up on the Atlas, Santos and Discoverer satellites, preparation for an airborne bomber alert more troops, and extra funds for the development of the army's new generation of tanks.

To support these additions, the committee authorized a 10 per cent increase in the defense budget for 1961 and said no more military

Dream Killed
For Narcotic
Offenders

ST. FRANCISVILLE, La. (AP) — A dream of quick freedom by some 250 narcotics offenders was blocked Friday in a judge's denial of a constitutional attack on the law that sent them to prison.

Dist. Judge Woodrow W. Overton denied a writ of habeas corpus sought by Ernest Allen, an itinerant carnival worker serving 12 years for marijuana possession. Allen was arrested in Ouachita Parish.

While the court held, Jack V. Rogers of Baton Rouge had a good point, the judge said. "The law is good and I don't think it is abused in many instances. It would be tragic to turn loose 250 narcotics violators on society."

The attorney attacked the law forbidding possession of narcotics because, he said, it was based upon a presumption of guilt. Rogers said he will appeal the ruling to the state Supreme Court.

"If I turned them loose," the judge said, "I wouldn't do any good but I would be ordering the trial to start next week on my part to turn Tuesday. I would have some 250 convicts without trial. I would have the Supreme Court ordering me to do it."

Approximately 250 narcotics block the proceeding. Prisoners had contributed to legal funds for the Allen test case. Mr. Rogers successfully attacked a state law a couple of 600-a-year job on grounds that he years ago which had banned possession of a hypodermic needle, long to his home local in Detroit. Hoffa claims he was freedom under the new local attack, the court said.

The judge told of another case last year in which he had refused that the federal court lacks power to writ, involving Ben Johnson of Baton Rouge, once termed the "vice king of Southern Louisiana." But Jackson ruled that the former State Police Supt. monitors "clearly acted within the Francis Grevenberg."

"It was possible," the judge have been easily framed. I don't think that Johnson was such a say anybody framed him, but it notorious racketeer that he could could have been done easily."

Hoffa Loses
In Try To Escape Trial

By WILLIAM J. EATON
WASHINGTON (UPI) — James R. Hoffa Friday lost his attempt to escape trial on charges aimed at ousting him as president of the giant Teamsters union.

Federal Judge Joseph R. Jack-son refused to order the trial to start next week on my part to turn Tuesday. I would have some 250 convicts without trial. I would have the Supreme Court ordering me to do it."

2 Negroes
Hired For Construction

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two Negro building craftsmen have been hired on construction jobs here in what President Eisenhower's Committee on Government contracts termed Friday a breakthrough against racial prejudice in the national capital.

The Negro workers are rodmen, or workers who install reinforcing steel rods before concrete is poured. They were referred for work by Rodmen's Local 201 of the AFL-CIO Ironworkers Union, which had been accused earlier by antidiscrimination groups as having an all-white policy.

The President's committee said the two Negroes have been working for two weeks without any reported trouble on their projects. There had been fears white workers might balk at working beside Negroes.

One of the two, Marshall Brooks, is employed on a new federal office building project. The other, Elijah Telham, was referred by the union to a private downtown office building job.

Chairman John A. Roosevelt, of the District of Columbia subcommittee of the President's contracts committee, hailed the two job referrals by the union and subsequent employment by the contractors as a breakthrough toward achieving job opportunity equality in the capital.

The President's committee is a White House-appointed group charged with seeking voluntary enforcement of the clauses contained in all federal contracts prohibiting job discrimination because of race, color, creed or national origin.

Roosevelt said he hoped the precedent would lead to complete elimination of all job discrimination in construction here. Roosevelt is a son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The full contracts committee is headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, has pledged cooperation with the contracts committee to see that unions refer qualified Negroes for work if employers will hire them. Most contractors on large federal and private projects have union contracts requiring them to hire only workmen referred to them by the union.

STYRONS COMPETE TODAY

Al Lawrence Wins 2-Mile To Highlight Drake Relays

DES MOINES, IOWA (AP)—A mid-meet down-pour which virtually cleared 8,500 fans from the stands spoiled the opening of the 51st Drake Relays Friday.

Before a drizzle turned into a deluge, Australian Al Lawrence of Houston ran away with the 2-mile title in the most one-sided victory of the dismal session in which seven championships were settled.

The two-day Drake show reaches a climax Saturday when 22 events will be contested, including a special AAU shot put showdown among three super slingers, Barry O'Brien, Bill Nieder and Dave Davis.

Lawrence, 28-year-old sophomore, won the 2-mile by 130 yards to lead off the soggy proceedings. The final running event, 2 hours and a lot of water later, found Nebraska sloshing to victory in the 4-mile relay.

STYRONS RUN TODAY

A special 220-yard hurdle event in which Northeast's Don Styron is scheduled to compete is slated for this afternoon in the Drake Relays, according to the Des Moines Associated Press. The event had been tentatively scheduled for Friday.

Dave and Don Styron will both run in a special 440-dash today.

The 4-mile relay mainly on the efforts of a miler named Joe American Horse.

American Horse, running a 4:17.9 mile, crased a 50-yard dash on the third lap and gave Nebraska anchor man Joe Mullins a comfortable lead for a 17:42.6

PENN RELAYS

Michigan Takes Distance Medley

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Anchorman Ernie Leps, a Lithuanian-born Canadian, whipped into the lead on the final turn to carry Michigan to the college distance medley title Friday at the Penn Relays.

The Wolverines were caught in 9 minutes, 56.4 seconds for the 2 1/2-mile jaunt, but it was Leps who carried the mail home safely.

Tony Seth ran the opening half-mile for Michigan, followed by Brian Gibson on the 440. Dave Martin did three-quarters and Leps the final mile.

The Wolverines were in it all the way but for a time, it appeared that they weren't going to make it. Yale set the early pace and on the final leg, Georgetown's Bob Vinton made a bold move into the lead on the backstretch.

But on the final turn, Leps summoned a mighty finishing kick, passed the firing Vinton, and hit the tape 15 yards to the good.

Duke anchorman Jared Nourse also passed Vinton in the last strides for second place. New York University was fourth and Yale a straggling fifth.

Jim Stack, Jack Knebel and Tom Carroll, the first three Yale runners stayed a couple of feet ahead all the way. Carroll gave the baton to anchorman Ed Slovick with a 2-yard lead. But Slovick is not a miler by trade and lasted only about a half-mile.

Then it became a two-team race between Michigan and Duke, until Vinton came up from nowhere to make his challenge.

The distance medley was the only major relay on the first day's program.

Josh Culbreath, the veteran Pan-American winner, captured the Olympic development 400-meter hurdles race in 1:51.5. It was merely a tuneup for the Philadelphia Pioneer Club because he already had beaten the Olympic qualifying time of 1:52.2. He finished 10 yards in front of Roy Thompson of the U.S. Army.

Willie Atterberry of Michigan State captured the regular 400-meter hurdles race in an identical 1:51.5. Fourteen of the individual events have been set aside for potential Olympians. Some of them duplicate the regular events.

Michigan led the qualifiers for the quarter-mile relay, turning in a 4:16.6 clocking. The other qualifiers were San Jose State, Maryland State, Morgan State, North Carolina College and Penn State.

The Michigan quartet was composed of Ben McRae, Jeff Engel, Dick Cephas and Big 10 sprint champion Tom Robinson. San Jose State, whose 40.2 is the fastest quarter-mile relay time of the season, qualified with 3:17.7. Anchorman Willie Williams didn't extend himself.

Michigan also came in with the best qualifying time in the half-mile relay. The Wolverine quartet of McRae, Len Corcoran, Cephas and Robinson was caught in 1:25.7. San Jose State, again anchored by Williams, also qualified in 1:25.9, the same time as North Carolina College.

John Lawlor of Boston Univ. won the hammer throw with a toss of 195 feet, 4 inches and Bob Batdorf of Penn captured the discus with a 169-footer.

Terry Engleman of Bloomsburg (Pa.) State Teachers won the 3-mile run in 14:26.5, and even though he's a relative unknown among the country's distance runners, he did accomplish an unusual feat.

He broke the meet record of 14:29.2 set by the great Paavo Nurmi back in 1929. This is the first time the event has been run in the Penn Relays since 1929.

Bill Johnson of Maryland led title went to East Texas State, whose anchor man, Socrates Bagaickas, ran a sparkling 1:50.4 anchor 880, to nip Kansas State of Emporia in 3:23.7.

Kansas State's Rex Stucker retained his 440 hurdles crown with a 1:32.7 clocking just as a drizzle turned to a soaking rain on the red Drake track. The event was in two sections, but second place came in the heat won by Stucker, going to Western Michigan's John Bork, in 1:32.9.

The broad jump title was captured by Ralph Boston of Tennessee A&I with a leap of 24-9/4, closely followed by East Texas State's Jim Baird with 24.7.

Another repeating champion was discus thrower Dick Cochran of Missouri, whose winning effort of 168-2, was approximately 10 feet under his title distance last year. Cochran still was almost 10 feet ahead of runner-up Robby Weise of Houston, who tossed 158-4 1/2.

No astounding times came in other events. Texas' Ray Cunningham was clocked at 14.1 to lead eight qualifiers in the 120-yard high hurdles and three runners, Ray Knaub of Baylor, Paul Williams of Kansas and Stone Johnson of Grambling, hit .09.6 to lead the qualifiers in the 100-yard dash.

Rain Washes Out Houston Second Round

HOUSTON (AP)—Arnold Palmer and Bill Collins remained tied for the lead Friday as rain washed out the second round of the $35,000 Houston Classic Golf Tournament.

They both carry Thursday's 6-under-par 66 into Saturday's action. Collins, a distance driver from Crystal River, Fla., was 9-under-par for 27 holes. Palmer, the Masters champion from Ligonier, Pa., was 8-under for 28 holes. The washout eliminated Friday's action over the 7,122-yard par 72 Memorial Park Course.

Also wiped out by the rain was the early 36-hole lead shared by Jack Fleck, Los Angeles, and Ken Venturi, Palo Alto, Calif., with 7-under-par 137s.

Fleck, with a first round 68, posted a 69 nearly two hours before the downpour began. An hour later Venturi came in with a 66 to add to Thursday's 71.

A stroke of the early pace were Julius Boros, Mid Pines, N. C., with a 69-69—138, and Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass., with a 71-67—138.

Barely half the field of 129 had completed 18 holes when play was called by Harvey Raynor, PGA tournament supervisor. Some 30 players had not finished the front nine.

They'll try to play the second round again Saturday, and the tournament will run one day longer than originally scheduled.

GIFT FOR PRINCESS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. Eisenhower will send a wedding gift to Britain's Princess Margaret. But the White House said Thursday the nature of the gift would not be disclosed because the Eisenhowers regard it as a personal matter.

WEST MONROE DEFENDS

Jr. High Meet Scheduled Today

West Monroe will defend the title it won last year by a step in the second annual Jaycees Junior High Track Meet at Brown Stadium this afternoon.

Sponsored by the Monroe Junior Chamber of Commerce as a part of their observance of "Youth Fitness Week," which begins Sunday, the meet will start at 1:30 with the field events. Track events begin at 2 o'clock with the 880 relay.

West Monroe won the championship of the first meet last April by taking the day's last event, the mile relay, beating second-place Robert E. Lee by a step. The mile relay victory enabled West Monroe to edge Lee by 1 1/4 points in team scoring, 54 1/2 to 53.

Jonesboro-Hodge was third in the close meet with 48 1/2 points. Ruston had 47, Ouachita 34 1/2, and Jefferson 29 1/2.

Central Junior High of Bastrop will replace Jonesboro-Hodge in this year's meet with the other five contestants returning.

Van Leigh's Robert E. Lee team is favored to win this year's meet with West Monroe again expected to field a strong team. Ouachita is figured as the meet's dark horse.

Individual relay and team trophies will be awarded to the winners.

Buter Crowley, Jaycee chairman of the affair, said the Junior Chamber of Commerce hopes to promote a field day in the future, open to non-varsity boy and girl athletes.

Army Searching For Quarterback

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sports of all sorts, from football to basketball, are being searched for by the Army. The search is for a quarterback, a player who can lead the team.

Ex-Yankee Charley Keller's area's problems with the sun and shadows are "partly psychological," they agreed it's a tough spot to play but not as bad as the current Yankee corps insists.

However, some fine outfielders—including Enos Slaughter, Pete Reiser and Monte Irvin—have butchered World Series fly balls out there, and the Yankees haven't had a reliable left-fielder since Woodling was shipped to Baltimore in 1955—their search for a regular now is about as confusing as the long-time quest for a first baseman to fill Lou Gehrig's shoes.

For the man who cares, Har-

4TH STRAIGHT FOR DETROIT

White Sox Clip Tigers, 3-1; Move Into First Place Tie

By JOE MOOSHIL

CHICAGO (AP)—Four-hit pitching by Early Wynn and Turk Lown carried the Chicago White Sox to a 3-1 victory over Detroit's slumping Tigers Friday night. The triumph lifted the Sox into a first-place tie with the Tigers and the New York Yankees who dropped a 2-1 decision at Baltimore. The loss was the fourth straight for the Tigers after they opened the season by winning their first five games. Their only run came in the fourth inning when Wynn, a 22-game winner last year, walked four men to force in a score.

Although Wynn had not allowed a hit, Manager Al Lopez yanked him in favor of Lown who closed the fourth inning by fanning Steve Bilko with the bases loaded.

Lown, gaining his first decision, was rescued for singles by Frank Bolling and Al Kaline in the sixth inning but otherwise encountered little difficulty.

With two out in the ninth inning, Lou Berberet and Norm Cash singled but pinch batter Gail Harris fouled out and ended the game.

The Sox collected eight hits off Frank Lary who was tagged with his first loss against one victory, which was at the expense of the Sox. Roy Sievers drove in two runs, and scored another in the eighth when he drew a walk and came in on a double by Sherm Lollar.

Chicago moved in front 1-0 in the first when Nellie Fox reached first on Bolling's error, took third on Minnie Minoso's single and scored while Sievers was grounding out.

Detroit tied it in the fourth when Wynn, who has failed to go four innings this season, suddenly became wild. The Sox, however, moved in front to stay in the fifth on a triple by Fox and Sievers' single.

Top-ranked Neale Fraser, No. 2 seeded Bernard (Tut) Barten and third-ranked Barry MacKay moved on as expected.

Fraser had to go three sets in sideling Don Kierbow of Sacramento, Calif., 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

Barten ousted Chuck McKinley, 13th-ranked nationally, 10-6, 6-2. MacKay, No. 2 in the United States, defeated Bill Wright of Southern Methodist, 6-2, 6-4.

In singles semifinals Saturday Fraser tackles MacKay and Barten meets Buchholz.

Fraser and Emerson seeded No. 1 in doubles, had little trouble disposing of Walton Miller and Jack Turpin, 6-1, 6-0. The No. 2 seed, MacKay and Barten, breezed by Bill Dixon and Willie Wolfe, 6-2, 6-3.

Buchholz and McKinley teamed to oust the brother combination of Butch and John Newman, 6-2, 6-2. Tommy Howarth and Wright eliminated Kierbow and Olan Parks, 6-2, 6-1.

Indian Sketches

JERRY COLLINS (left), a sophomore righthander who couldn't win a game last year, is Northeast's top pitcher this season with three straight victories. A 5-10, 155-pounder from Jena, Collins has been used principally in relief, appearing in eight of the Indians' 17 games. He has an earned run average of 3.33 per game.

BOBBY LOCKWOOD (right) is one of the club's most promising freshmen. Although used sparingly this year, he led Spearsville High School to the state Class B title in 1959 with a 13-1 pitching record and a .418 batting average. Lockwood, a 6-3 righthander, currently has a 0-1 mound mark. He is scheduled to hurl against Northwestern here today.

BROWN SURVIVES JAMS

Orioles Hang 2-1 Loss On Yankees

BALTIMORE (AP)—Hal "Skin" Brown eased out of a couple of late inning jams and hung on to pitch the Baltimore Orioles to a 2-1 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night.

The victory was the fifth in a row for the Orioles, their longest winning streak since 1955. It was the third consecutive loss for the Yankees.

Brown, 25-year-old dean of a predominantly young Oriole pitching staff, allowed nine hits, including a double and two triples. But he left seven Yankee runners stranded in notching his first triumph of the season.

Loser Bill Short, 22-year-old New York rookie, gave up only six hits but damaged his own cause with six walks. Three of the walks, following a single by Marv Breeding, gave Baltimore a run in the third inning.

The Orioles added another run in the fourth while hitting only one ball out of the infield. Catcher Joe Ginsberg, subbing for the injured Gus Triandos, led off with a base-hit bunt and continued to second when first baseman Bill Skowron made a wild throw.

After a walk and two strike outs, ex-Yankee Gene Woodling bounced a single to center to score Ginsberg.

The Yanks scored in the fifth on a triple by Tony Kubek and a single by Short off the glove of Brown.

A doubleplay, the second of the game and the 13th by Baltimore in 11 games, helped throttle the Yanks in the sixth inning. The twin killing followed a lead off single by Mickey Mantle. Roger Maris followed with a triple and was stranded.

Kubek and Short singled with one out in the seventh, but Woodling prevented a run with a diving catch. Brown retired the next seven batters in a row.

The complete game by Brown was the fourth in the last five games by an Oriole pitcher. Brown, only 4-11 against the Yankees during his career, has won more games (.35) for the Orioles than any other member of the staff.

The contract for the title bout reportedly says Jordan agreed not to take on any foes six weeks prior to May 27.

Flora reiterated Friday night that the Jordan-McFarland fight is still on and that he has the boxers signed to it.

WORKHORSE PITCHERS MILWAUKEE (AP)—In 1948, Warren Spahn and Johnny Sain pitched a total of 372 innings as the Boston Braves won the National League pennant. Last year when the Braves tied Los Angeles only to lose the two-game playoff, Spahn and Lew Burdette had pitched a total of 352 innings during the season.

Little Boys Season Slated To Open Today

West Monroe's Little Boys Baseball League will stage their "Opening Day" ceremonies today. The new season will be officially inaugurated on this date, highlighted by a game between the 12-year-old players from the North and South Leagues.

Ceremonies will commence at 12:45 p.m. when team pictures will be taken at the First Baptist Church. This will be followed by a parade through downtown West Monroe, in which all players will march and will be accompanied by the Junior High School Band. Festivities will continue at the Little Boys Baseball Park on North Seventh at 6:30 p.m. when all players, coaches, managers, and sponsors will be introduced at home plate. The ball game will follow immediately.

All contributions made at the opening day program will be donated to a special fund set up to help fight the legal battle now going on between "Little League" and "Little Boys Baseball, Inc." local officials will explain how this affects our "Southern Way of Life" and why the two leagues are members of "Little Boys Baseball" and not the "Little League".

The public is invited to come out to the park early, eat their supper at the concession stand and help mark this occasion as the beginning of a successful season.

Tripucka Signs With Broncos

DENVER (AP)—Frank Tripucka, former Notre Dame quarterback who has been playing in the Canadian League, signed Friday with the Denver Broncos of the American Football League.

Tripucka graduated from Notre Dame in 1949 and after playing with Philadelphia Eagles, Detroit Lions, Chicago Cardinals and the old Dallas Texans, he went to Canada in 1953.

He played with Regina from 1953 through 1958. He started the 1959 season with Ottawa but finished the year with Regina.

Indians Obtain Pete Whisenant

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds Friday sold outfielder Pete Whisenant to the Cleveland Indians of the American League for an undisclosed sum.

Whisenant, a right-handed hitter, in 26 Reds' games last year, batted .229. He came to the Reds from Chicago in November 1956. The Reds must shed one more player by May 12.

Ruston Track Carnival Reset

RUSTON, La. (Special)—The annual Ruston Invitational Track Meet, scheduled for Friday night here, was postponed because of rain.

The meet will be run Monday afternoon with the field events beginning at two o'clock and the track events scheduled to start at three.

DERBY HOPES ENTERED

Two Attractions On Racing Card

By JOHN CHANDLER Associated Press Sports Writer A $5,000 race at Churchill Downs and the $60,000-added Grey Lag Handicap at Aqueduct are the major thoroughbred racing attractions on Saturday's program.

Several top Kentucky Derby eligibles headed by Leonard Fruchman's Bally Ache will get a tune-up in the 7-furlong Stepping Stone Purse at Louisville. First Landing and Sword Dancer, who loomed big in the Derby a year ago, are the feature names in the Grey Lag Handicap.

Six 3-year-olds are entered for the Stepping Stone. All six are Derby eligibles.

Bally Ache is the second choice behind Tompon for the 86th Derby to be raced at Louisville next Saturday. He won the Flamingo and Florida Derby, two $100,000 races last winter.

The Sunny Blue Farm's Venetian Way, who lost the Florida Derby by a nose, and the Llangollen Farm entry of Eagle Admiral and Divine Comedy are capable of an upset in the Stepping Stone. Victor Sheridan's Sandy Flowers, a filly from Turt Paradise of Phoenix, and W. S. Miller's Stephen also are entered.

The $10,000 Oaks Prep, prelude to the Kentucky Oaks next Friday, is also on the Downs' program. Fourteen 3-year-old fillies are entered, headed by L. L. Haggin II's Tingle, winner of the Ashland Stakes April 16 at Kennebec.

The Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer, 1959 Horse of the Year but a disappointment in the Widener and Gulfstream Handicaps last winter, has top weight of 126 pounds in the 1 1/2 mile Gray Laze. C. T. Cheney's First Landing, 2-year-old champion in 1956 and winner of the Santa Anita and Laurel Maturities this year, has 124 pounds.

Others in the 11-horse lineup include Ada L. Rice's Talent Show (119), who broke the Aqueduct track record in the Excelsior Handicap, and the Llangollen Farm entry of Restless Wind (122) and Crasher (111).

Garden State Park opens its spring session with the $25,000 Delaware Valley Stakes at 6 furlongs for 3-year-olds. The April Fool Farm's April Skies and Frank C. Whitmore's Vanessa's Boy have top weight of 121 pounds. The probable favorite, however, is Joseph Gavezan's Boston Baker, 115. Boston Baker easily won the Suffolk Downs inaugural. Last year he won two of three, losing only to Bally Ache in the Mayflower Stakes.

Sixteen are entered for the $20,000 Children's Hospital Handicap at Bay Meadows, a 6-furlong affair. T. H. Wacker III's Clandestine has top weight of 120 pounds. Radkovich and Clark's Dumpty Humpty, who set the world's record of 1:06 for 6 furlongs in 1957, is in with 113 pounds.

The $15,000 Maryland Derby, for 3-year-olds, foaled in that state, drew eight. Alfred Vanderbill's Idolator, who won the Chesapeake Stakes at Laurel but ran poorly in the Wood Memorial last week at Aqueduct, is top weight under 122 pounds.

Suffolk Downs has the $10,000 Commonwealth Handicap, a 6-furlong sprint also for 3-year-olds. Gavezan's Fighting King and M. O. Kaplan's Mike Hudson Jr. each have 122 pounds. Mike Hudson was second behind Boston Baker in the Inaugural, and Fighting King won easily last week.

Nine are entered for the $10,000 Chicago Handicap, a mile race at Sportsman's Park. Resolved is top-weight 120 pounds, and is coupled with Easy Juan, 106, as the Sunny-side Stable and Mrs. S. Ippolito entry.

Fishermen: A Genuine DuraCraft

Guarantees SATISFACTION!

These DuraCraft "EXTRAS" Cost but Little More—But Mean SO MUCH!

- ★ DuraCraft now offers .064 gage aluminum where most competitors use .050. This heavier gage used by DuraCraft means for more strength.
- ★ Only DuraCraft offers a baked enamel paint finish where others use air dried paints which tend to peel off after slight use.
- ★ DuraCraft's "Extra hard rivets and thicker hulls" prevent damage from hitting stumps and cypress knees.
- ★ DuraCraft offers the most imitation. Air tanks are completely filled with styrofoam where others use one third to one half as much in these tanks. This difference can mean your life in event of capsizing. Why gamble?

Questions And Answers Guide For Homemakers

By BETTY PEPIS

Q.—I have a small dark hall connecting my beige living room, turquoise bedroom, pink bathroom and green bedroom. Please suggest a color to paint this hall which will not clash with the room colors and will not be dark.

A.—The hall could be made extremely bright and gay by painting walls and ceiling and woodwork pure white, then paint each door a brilliant color which relates to the room's color. The bathroom door shocking pink, cadmium door for the living room, sea green for one bedroom and leaf green for the other.

Q.—For my sons' very small bedroom I have bought two tangerine couches. Chests are painted red and rug is brown and beige tweed. Curtains are beige, brown, pink and green print. What color for walls and ceiling? I have thought of pale green walls and pink ceiling.

A.—The couches sound gay and exciting. The pale green walls would be a good foil for the hot color, but I would avoid the pink ceiling which would be rather feminine for a boy's room. Paint it instead the same color as the walls. Very pale yellow, or white or pale beige would be equally good.

Q.—My house is small and in redecorating. I want to use light cool colors. I am tired of beige and don't want white. What would you suggest for walls, ceiling and new carpet? I have only a black and white tweed sectional. Please advise a carpet color which will not show track of my children's muddy feet.

A.—Mud, dirt, and track marks will be visible, no matter what color you choose. I would suggest a room-size carpet in a washable synthetic fiber. This can be cleaned on the floor, and the size would permit you to move it to equalize wear areas. A medium slate blue would be a good color choice. Paint walls and ceilings a very pale silver grey, have curtains in a light grey sheer. One chair could be slate and odd chairs in electric blue silk. Have lamps of blue Bristol glass with tarnished silver paper shades. Accessories could be silver, crystal Bristol glass with perhaps one or two pieces of red lacquer ware. Sofa pillows in bright and pale blues and black.

Q.—My bathroom has yellow tile half way up the walls. Wall above the tile is white and floor is black and white tile. What color for window and shower curtain? The window is directly below the bath, and could I use a pair of shutters there? What, if so, color should they be painted?

A.—I think the shutters would be ideal. Paint them to match the wall. Use waterproof paint to prevent blistering, peeling or water marking. The shower curtain could be bright golden yellow or white with a yellow flower print. You will not need a window curtain with the shutters. The window is directly below the bath, and could I use a match the shower curtain.

Quick Tips To Fashion Smartness

United Press International
Swimsuits for 1960 are pared to the minimum. But by contrast, the two-pieces usually come with some sort of cover-up—brief jackets in a variety of styles, with the Italian school girl's smock the newest trend.

This summer, the swimwear plunge not only is into the water but at the back of the bathing suit. Back exposure all the way to the waistline highlights the one-piece maillots and sheaths in major collections.

Pins—gold, silver or jeweled—prove one of the most popular accessories for summer. But use them on a dress or suit, not on fur. The Fur Information and Fashion Council said that attaching either flowers or pins may damage the fur surface or pelt.

Travel note: A new booklet is designed for the woman who is going abroad and hopes to speak the language instead of depending on "talk" with the hands when she goes in a beauty shop. The booklet, "International Phrases of Beauty" has typical conversations between client and operator spelled out in French, Italian, German and Spanish.

Household Hints For Homemakers

United Press International
There will be no lint when you're pressing out the crease in a let-down skirt if you use tissue paper instead of a damp cloth for ironing.

Stuffed gathered pockets on children's dresses with soft tissue paper and they'll be easier to iron.

When frying fish, drop three or four small cubes of celery into the skillet. The celery helps cut the odor and will not alter the taste.

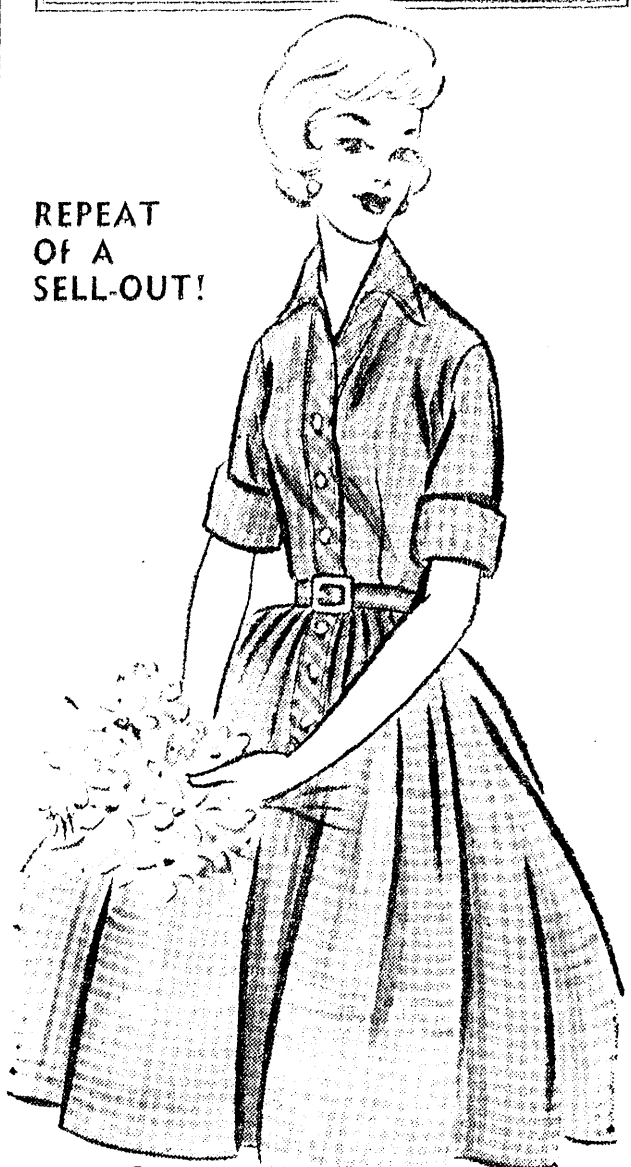

Dip the bottoms of cans of cleaning powder in paraffin wax to keep them from leaving rust rings.

Freeze fruit right in the can. At serving time, open both ends of the can and push out the roll. Slice, top each slice with a little whipped cream, and sprinkle with coconut.

Give special tang to green beans by serving them with vinegar—butter sauce. Heat 1/2 cup of butter until deep golden brown. Add 2 tablespoons of vinegar, stir together and pour over hot green beans. Serves 6.

Let foods cool before placing in the refrigerator. Hot foods take more cooling—running up electric bills.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Gal Can't Work, But Bowls, Cha-Cha-Chas

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: What can a woman who belongs to an exclusive club do about a swimming instructor who is showing too much familiarity? I find myself taking his hands out from the moment I enter the pool.

For years I've tried without success to learn to swim. This instructor is the best I've ever had. I hate to discontinue the lessons.

I'm reluctant to report him because I don't wish to jeopardize his job and I don't want to look foolish. He could make a good case for himself by claiming he must handle me to give proper instruction. And then I am aware that, to the outside, I might be labeled "a little off" because I'm rather plain looking in both face and figure, and definitely not the type men go for.

The instructor is married and has two grandchildren. I can't tell my husband, because he'd go right to the club director and start a major war. Please advise me. — B.A.C.

Dear B.A.C.: The direct approach is best. Tell Water Boy the next time he gets too handy: "I know I'm a silly old woman, but I wish you wouldn't put your hands on me unless it's absolutely necessary. I'm ticklish, and besides, others may get the wrong impression of you, Grams, and we wouldn't want that, would we?"

Dear Ann: I've been going with this real doll for about a year. I'll start by admitting she's 22. I am 43, although she thinks I'm 35. I met her through a buddy. She used to go with him until he decided to go back to his wife. This chick is more fun than anyone I've ever known. She's a marvelous dancer and a champion bowler. She's a good-hearted kid and sends her mother $100 every month.

This is the hitch. She gets the hundred from me. The poor kid can't work because of asthma spells. I also pay her living expenses.

Don't give me a lecture on morals. I know she's not taking me for a dump. She likes me plenty and is true blue. I'm no juvenile, and I have plenty of money to spend. I enjoy her company and I love to do things for people. My question is this: Do you think we could make a go of marriage? Please be honest with me. I'm being honest with you. — SAM

Dear Sam: If you marry this girl every time you put your hand in your pocket you'll have to take her out.

To begin with, she's too young for you. If you want to do this child a favor, send her to a doctor who will "adjust" her asthma spells so she can work as well as do the cha-cha-cha and win bowling prizes.

Dear Ann Landers: I was going steady with a nice guy and we broke up for a crazy reason. Please tell me what it all means. I'm a good student and enjoy working at my studies. He's lackadaisical and whatever he gets is O.K. When the last grades came out I had straight A's. His card was terrible. He got mad at me and said "You break your head to get good grades just to show me up. Give me my ring back."

I returned his ring and that was that. Now I wonder if I should have offered to help him with his home work instead of letting him call it off. I like him a lot. — STUNNED

Dear Stunned: The boy is much too competitive with you. This relationship could never be a good one. Forget him and find a fellow who will take pride in your achievements.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you read ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Sails The Seas

SINGAPORE (UPI) — A veteran of 35 years at sea, the chief engineer of the Hong Kong-based cargo ship Grelorsa says wistfully "this is the life I want."

"I expect to retire from the sea, but not yet. I'm proud to have friends in every port," said the engineer.

This nostalgic view of sea life seems normal enough, coming from a sailor.

But this sailor is a woman — Victoria Alexandrina Drummond. In three and a half decades at sea, she has served as second engineer on 20 British ships and chief engineer on eight others before signing on with the Grelorsa.

The Grelorsa is a 7,005-ton cargo ship on the run between the Straits ports and Hong Kong.

Her crew includes three Chinese engineer officers and engine room crew.

The brown-eyed officer said she finds "inspiration from my voyages to the East." She has been around the world "twice or thrice."

In her teens, Miss Drummond became interested in marine engineering and was an apprentice in the Caledon Shipbuilding and Engineering Co., in Dundee, Scotland, for five years.

"I was the only girl among 3,000 men," she said with a wry smile.

She became a chief engineer only after World War II.

During the war, she served as second engineer on transport vessels and tankers on Atlantic, Pacific and African runs.

She has been awarded the Lloyd's War Medal for bravery at sea, the Medal of the British Empire for devotion to duty and disregard for danger, the Atlantic Star with clasp, the Coronation medal, and numerous other campaign medals.

A god-child of the late British Queen Victoria, Miss Drummond is the only woman chief engineer in the British merchant navy.

What To Feed Child
When Home From School

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

If you have a school child you know that ordinarily he is ravenous when he comes home. There may be children who eat a hearty lunch at school, but more often they have a skimpy breakfast and an equally meager lunch and when the tension is all over they want to eat.

What can they have? Mothers should know that sweet foods feed the bacteria in the mouth and cause lactic acid. And this in turn works on the teeth and causes cavities. So avoid giving the child sweet foods when he comes home. He may enjoy them, but he'll do better if he doesn't eat sweets and eats a heartier meal later on.

It is because sweet foods are easily available and they do satisfy the child's appetite that parents fall into the temptation of making these the after-school treats.

Fruit, of any kind, makes an excellent between-meal food and an orange or an apple or any fruit eaten in the hand has the added satisfaction of lasting a long time. Vegetable or fruit juice to drink or a few strips of carrots, green pepper or celery to nibble on will satisfy. Then the child can add to this a half a glass of skim milk or buttermilk, neither one of which will spoil his appetite for the night meal.

If you happen to have a dish of left-over, cooked fruit, add a big dollop of yogurt to this and you'll find the child will enjoy it as much as if it were whipped cream—and it is much better for him.

If you can induce the child to come home to have his snack you have more control of it than if he stops at the nearest drugstore or market and picks out something for himself. Chances are it will be a gooey, sweet drink or sweet food of some kind.

The point is that eating between meals falls into a sort of pattern and if mid-morning and mid-afternoon you always have given milk, plain crackers or any of the other foods mentioned, that is what begins to seem right to the child for just this satisfaction of hunger.

It is equally as true that if you always have allowed the child all the candy, cookies, cake, jelly sandwiches, soft drinks, etc., he demands, these become the pattern of eating he follows. It's better to start out right than to argue.

Mrs. A. F. A plain white shirt and a regular tie with a dark suit is a "safe" outfit. The pleated style shirt is smart, too, and has become popular with a regular suit. However, not with a black bow tie. That is a formal combination and some people may wonder what happened to his tuxedo.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: What can a man, fiftyish, 5 feet 11 inches, with a middle protuberance, noticeable, but not extensive (I hope), wear to play down the effect of the center bulge? Diet has been applied and will be continued. But while attempting to conquer the middle bulge, what attire would help in making a presentable appearance?

Mrs. W.K. A trim two- or three-button coat with some chest fullness and slight waist suppression will detract from the middle. Be sure it's easy fitting. Tightness accentuates any bulges. Stay to smooth fabrics in darker solid shades, herring-bones or self weaves. One more suggestion. Have him try underwear shorts specially made with a wide elasticized band. They help flatten the midriff.

DEAR MR. JUSTER: I know that coats weren't always made with lapels. I am somewhat curious as to how they became standard equipment. Is there any special reason?

J.C. Thank the military for starting this. Originally military uniforms were made with high collars that fastened tightly around the neck. For comfort, soldiers would undo the upper button of these high collar tunics and roll back each side. This gradually affected civilian fashions and started the lapel treatment. The notch was cut in the lapel to indicate the break in the collar and even the button-hole was retained.

Mr. Juster will be glad to answer your questions. His new leaflet, "Knotty Problems" will show you how to get an attractive knot in your tie, whether it's a four- in - hand or a bow. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet. Address: Harry Juster in care of The World.

Navy Mothers Schedule Sale For Charities

The well-known "Sailor-Boy" tags will be sold on the streets of the Twin Cities today by the Rainbow Girls for the Navy Mothers Club.

Members of the Monroe Assembly No. 5, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, have agreed to sell the tags for the local Navy Mother's Club, on the annual tag day that is sponsored nationally by the Navy Mothers Clubs of America and locally by Club No. 760.

The Navy Mothers Clubs are welfare clubs, contributing all of the proceeds of their projects to various welfare projects primarily those connected with Naval, Marine, Coast Guard, and Veterans Hospitals. They also contribute to local charities and drives, local needy families and national emergencies.

The local club members work with the Shreveport and Alexandria Clubs in the Veterans Hospitals in those cities, serving where they are needed.

Trailer Company Plans Location

Land has been leased by Derl Tidwell, a businessman from Calhoun and Hobbs, N. M., for the construction of a building which will house the Stockman Horse Trailer Company. It was announced by the Industrial Development Committee of West Monroe Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

Immediate employment of ten men and the possibility of employing many more in the near future, is foreseen for the manufacture of custom made trailers. The location of the site is on Highway 20 west, just east of the Clayton Calhoun Auction Barn. The building, 50x100 ft. in size, will be a Houtex Steel Prefab which was sold and will be erected by Pickens Steel Building Co.

The Chamber representatives reported the ceremonies were held Thursday, at 10 a.m.

Brady Photos On Exhibit At Northeast

A graphic view of conditions in the trenches, on the battlefields and in the camps of Civil War days, is provided by an exhibit of Mathew Brady photos now on display at Northeast State College.

The pictures, made from original negatives of shots made by the famous Civil War photographer, are in the Fine Arts Building, which will be the scene of a tea open to the public from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday. The exhibit will continue throughout next week.

Sponsor of the exhibit is the North Louisiana Camera Club, of which Lee Estes is program chairman. Ed Schutz, art teacher at the college assisted in setting up the display.

Portraits of Presidents Lincoln and Grant, as well as those of Generals Custer and Sheridan, are included. Estes said that Brady, widely known as the Civil War photographer, was one of the pioneers in American photography.

"His contributions in the field of art are overshadowed in part by his outstanding work as photographic historian," he said.

Sky Divers Featured In Jaycee Show

The Tri-State Sky Divers, a parachute club from Shreveport, will treat local sky viewers to something new Sunday at the big Jaycee Airshow at Selman Field. The Sky Divers will make approximately 24 parachute jumps in all, and will feature a free fall from 10,000 feet to about 1500 feet.

Another act of the group consists of two men getting out on the wings of a plane in flight and jumping off. The Sky Divers will perform from about 1:45 till 2:30 p.m.

The club was organized a few months ago. Bill McClendon is president of the group and Tony Lemos is vice-president.

The group has adopted the regulations and proven policies of the Parachute Club of America. The object of parachute jumping, according to the group, is not just to leap, open the chute and manage to get to earth alive, but is to have the members become skillful jumpers.

There are basically two methods of parachuting. Beginners use a static-line rig until they have jumped at least 10 times. This is to establish confidence in the novice jumper and to acquire the proper descending techniques.

The static-line chute is a military type and is opened by a line connecting the mechanism of the parachute to the aircraft. The jumper does not have to worry about pulling the rip cord at the right time; the static-line does this for him.

The free fall jump is different in that the jumper's chute is not connected to the airplane and he must pull the rip cord himself. In this jump, the jumper climbs out of the plane, holding on to a wing support and stands on a step with one foot and a wheel with the other. The wheel brake is locked by the pilot to prevent ist turning under the jumper's foot.

He stands in a spread-eagle position, arms and legs outstretched. He assumes stability in this way, then lets go. He falls toward the ground face down and does not lose sight of the target below. The men sometimes perform different maneuvers during the fall, such as back to earth, figure 8's, alternating 360 degree left and right turns on heading, forward control loops, backward control loops and control barrel rolls to the right and left.

After opening the chutes, the men steer for a target on the ground, which has been previously laid out, and the more experienced members usually land within 10 to 15 feet of the target if not right on it.

The Sky Divers will be followed

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) — Raymond Whitaker, candidate for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senate, parked his car at a service station and went next door for a cup of coffee.

When he came out there was a truck tire in the back seat of his car.

The service station owner explained his tow truck had tire trouble a few miles from town and asked Whitaker to drop off the tire.

A vote's a vote, Whitaker reasoned, and lugged the tire along.

W. Virginia Governor Raps TV

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Gov. Cecil H. Underwood Friday said the National Broadcasting Co. citizens of West Virginia were outraged by what he called its "biased" television report of conditions in the state and demanded that any further such program must be canceled.

Underwood sent the telegraphed protest to Robert Samuel, president of the Radio Corp. of America; Robert Kinner, president of NBC-TV; Augustus C. Long, board chairman, and J. W. Foley, president of the Texas Co., sponsor of the program, and Fredrick Ford, Federal Communications Commission chairman.

The telegram said: "The nearly two million respectable, educated and hard-working citizens of West Virginia are outraged by the 'biased' National Television broadcast eliminating from our coal fields and possessing in your spokesman David Brinkley."

As governor of West Virginia, Underwood said, he has no power to censor any broadcast, but he said Brinkley, his staff and crew are guilty of the most flagrant distortion in both the audio and radio portions of these broadcasts.

"Brinkley's tactics in securing material for these broadcasts and deliberate coloring of the news is common knowledge among the news corps assembled here in Charleston and has received public attention from a local column," Brinkley's presence in West Virginia under these circumstances is obnoxious to all decent citizens of this state."

The program, "The Hartley Brinkley Report," has been televising a series to depict economic conditions in West Virginia. Thursday night it showed films of two ghost mining towns, with Brinkley narrating.

Grenade Bits Located At Crash Scene

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The director of civil aviation reported Friday that fragments of a hand grenade were found in the wreckage of a Venezuelan airliner that crashed Thursday, killing 11 of 13 persons aboard.

The director, however, said there was no other evidence to support a bizarre story that the grenade was exploded by a demented White Russian. Road workers said they got the story from one of the two survivors before he lapsed into unconsciousness.

"I am almost sure the grenade was exploded in the cabin of the plane," said Maj. Horacio Lopez, the civil aviation chief.

He said newspaper stories provided the only other reports he had seen that the grenade was set off by the Russian, a passenger on the plane and one of the 11 killed at the city of Calabozo on Venezuela's central plains.

Newspapers also speculated that the plane could have been blown up by a political terrorist of the sort that has been harassing President Romulo Betancourt's government for months.

Police pinned their hopes of clearing up the mystery on the recovery of Jose Chacin, a Spanish geologist traveling on the plane from Caracas to his home in Ayacucho. Another passenger, a Venezuelan woman, also survived but never regained consciousness. She is not expected to live.

Road workers got the story of the Russian from Chacin as he lay injured on the ground after the plane exploded. This is what they said he told them:

Vladimir Lavinski, a Russian emigre apparently living in Venezuela, went into the pilot's cabin, locked the door and threatened to blow up the plane. He grappled with the pilot. During the struggle the cockpit announced to passengers over the plane's loudspeaker system that Lavinski was carrying a bomb that was going to explode at any minute.

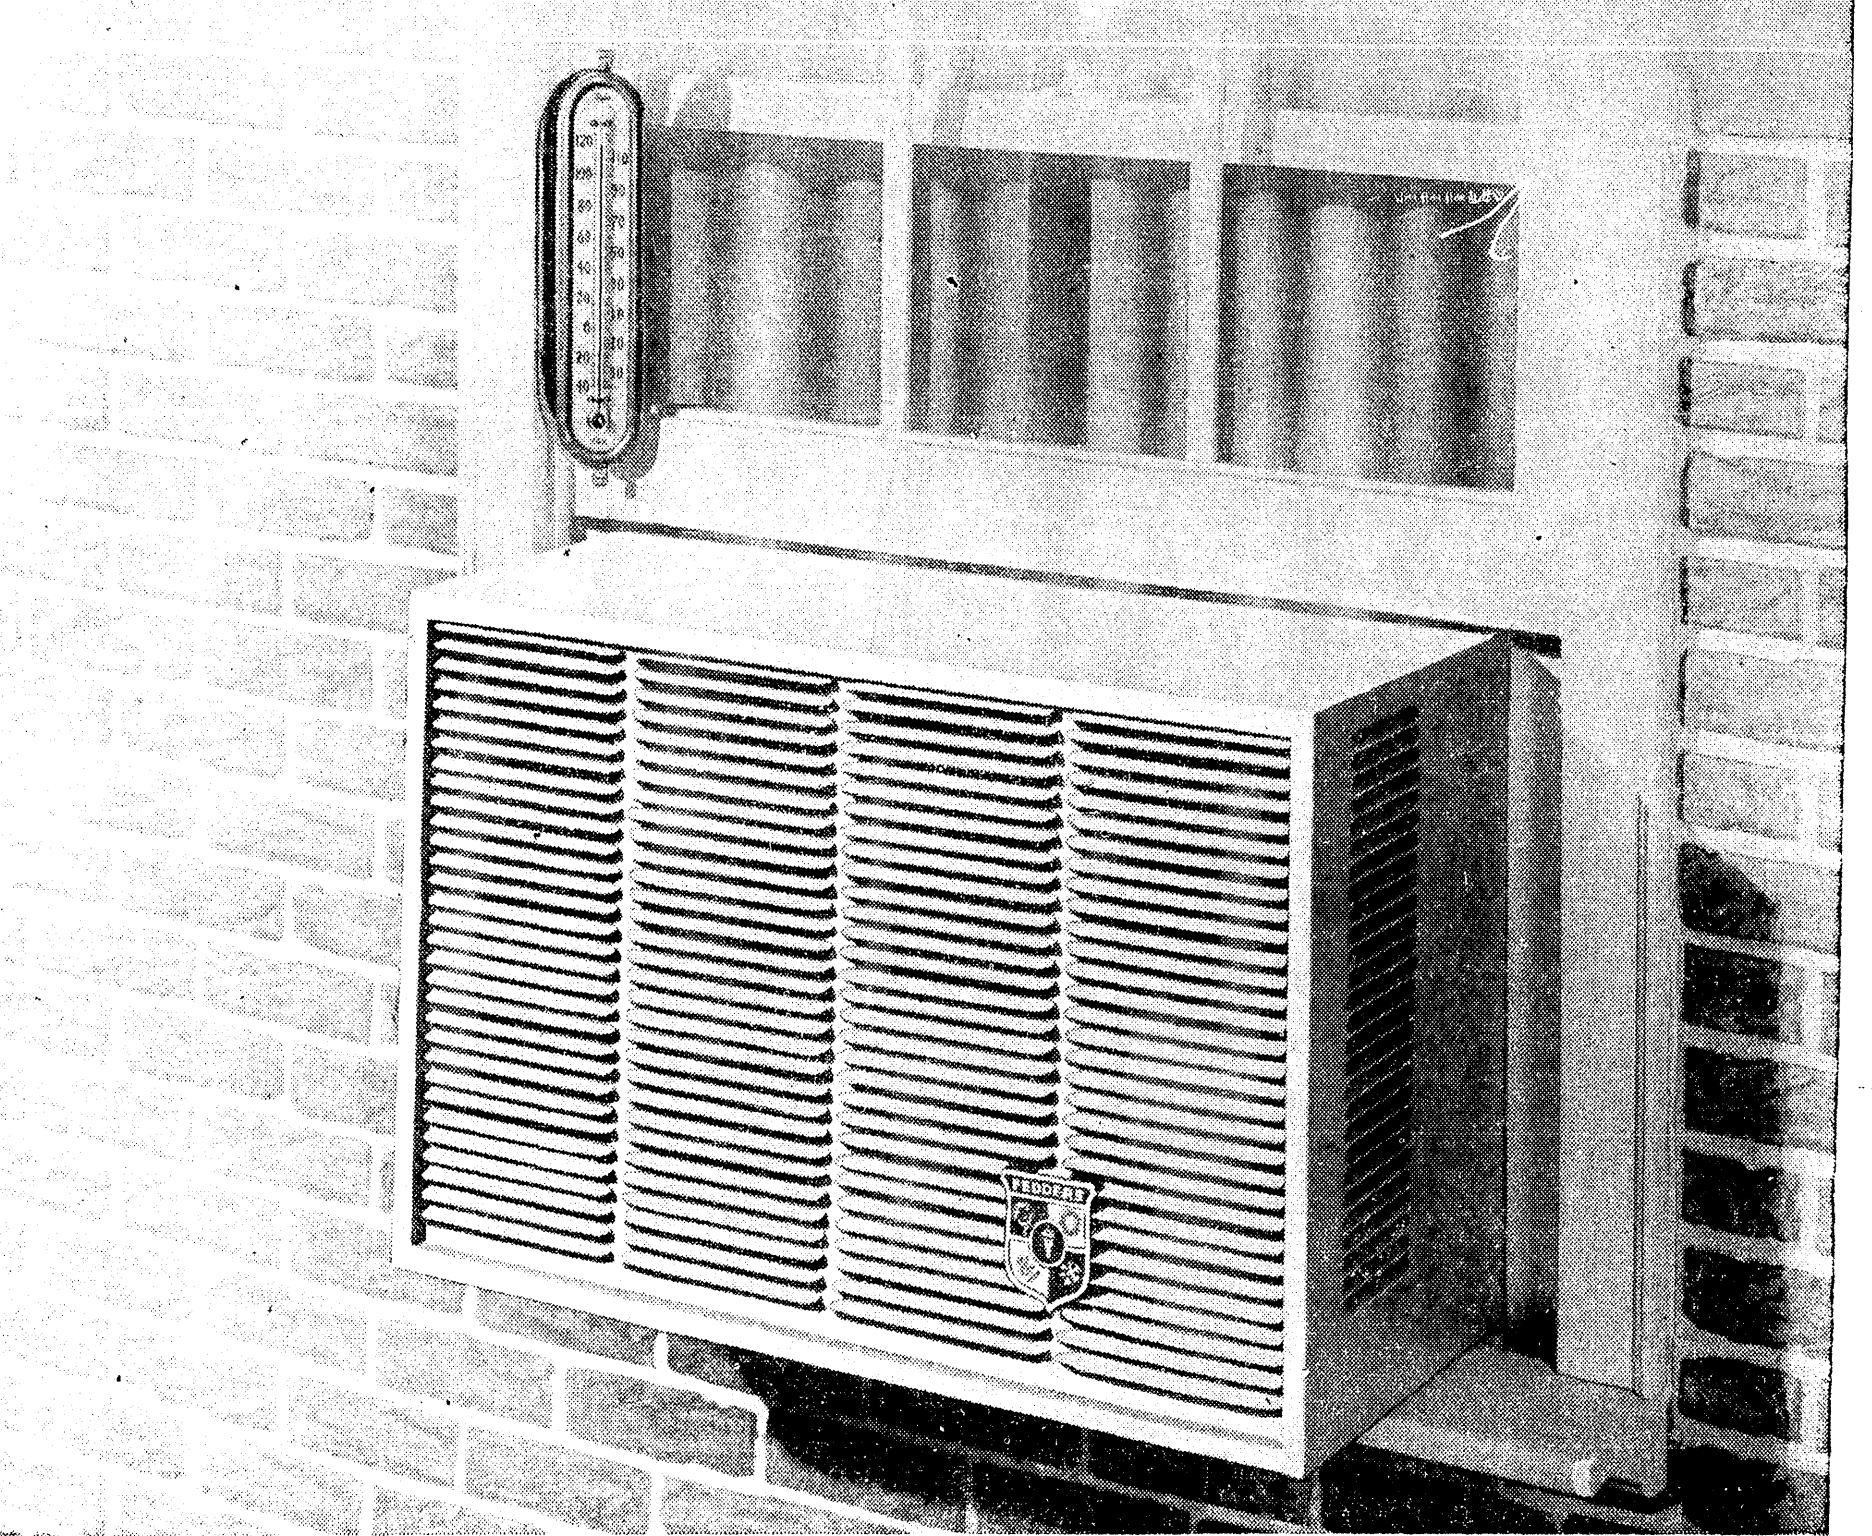

One road worker said Chacin told him the Russian said something about being a "space explorer." But there also were some discrepancies.

One road worker asked Chacin where the explosion occurred and he said, "In the back of the plane—maybe the baggage." That contradicts the cabin explosion mentioned by others.

Lavinski was listed on the plane's passenger list. Two other foreign passengers were listed as Poles and the fourth foreigner was Chacin.

Best Air Conditioner Under The Sun

(that's where an air conditioner has got to be real good)

WHEN THE WEATHER REPORT SAYS 90°—IT'S OFTEN 115° UNDER THE SUN! FEDDERS IS ENGINEERED AND TESTED TO COOL EFFECTIVELY IN 115° HEAT

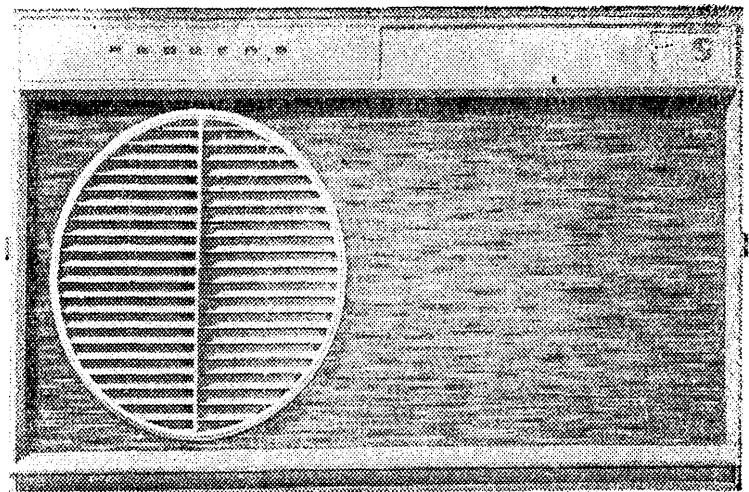

Air conditioners are tested and rated for BTU's inside a laboratory... with the temperature set at 95 degrees. Plenty warm, sure. But in the sunlight outside your window where your air conditioner will actually operate, it's likely to be 15 to 20 degrees hotter.

Many people overlook this fact when evaluating an air conditioner solely on BTU's. They forget that the Weather Bureau measures temperatures in the shade. It's likely that your own ideas about your local summer weather seriously underestimates the heat load your air conditioner will have to contend with.

That's why, over and above their big BTU ratings, Fedders Air Conditioners are engineered... manufactured... tested to cool effectively at 115 degrees. That's 20 degrees hotter than the temperature at which BTU's are measured. It represents the reserve cooling power your air conditioner needs to work properly in mid-summer sunlight.

It will pay to look beyond mere BTU ratings when selecting your air conditioner. In competitive tests against air conditioners with similar BTU ratings, a Fedders Air Conditioner pulled room temperatures down faster... held them lower with the outdoor temperature at 115 degrees. Most of the other air conditioners tested failed to cool as well... or turned off altogether to avoid permanent damage from overheating.

To live happily this summer, make yours a Fedders... the sun-proof air conditioner.
